The best paintings I make are about people - their faces, personalities, and the places they inhabit. Drawing since the age of 3, I aim to make paintings that are lasting works of American realism, designed to thrive in your home, families and companies for generations to come.

In 2019, I'll be concentrating on painting people in acrylics or oil sticks, and from life. So yeah, no portraits from photos and no oil portraits this year, other than via oil sticks. Keeping it simple.

I'll travel to paint you or your loved ones and I relish the experience of being the first witness to the beautiful likenesses I create. Using Skype or Face Time, I'm available for initial and follow-up video consultations so you can easily meet with me in my Cherry Street Pier Philadelphia studio and keep track of your commission's progress.

I invite you to call me at 917-687-8120 to begin the exciting journey of making your portrait together.
